Dear Colleague,

Developing Border Strategies Through Co-operation and Technology

Portugal is the western-most state of mainland Europe, being bordered to the west and south by the Atlantic Ocean and to the north and east by Spain. Its territory also includes the Atlantic archipelagos of the Azores and Madeira. Portugal has a rich cultural heritage which is shared across the globe as a consequence of its colonial past.

Portugal has a highly developed economy and is a much-visited tourist destination. Portugal's geographical position makes it the gateway to the Mediterranean and a stopover for many foreign airlines at several airports within the country.

Portugal is also part of the Schengen area and has been an early adopter of biometrics and eGate technology.

With their experience of being in the frontline of the smuggling of drugs and illicit goods from across the Atlantic, THB and economic migration challenges from Africa, Portugal is the perfect place re-convene for the next meeting of the World Border Security Congress.

We need to continue the discussion, collaboration and intelligence sharing.

Supported by the Organisation for Security & Cooperation in Europe (OSCE), the European Association of Airport and Seaport Police (EAASP), African Union Economic, Social and Cultural Council (AU-ECOSOC), Migration, Asylum, Refugees Regional Initiative (MARRI), Border Security Network, National Security & Resilience Consortium, International Security Industry Organisation and International Association of CIP Professionals, the World Border Security Congress is the premier multi-jurisdictional global platform where the border protection policy-makers, management and practitioners together with security industry professionals, convene to discuss the international challenges faced in protecting borders.

The Congress programme (correct at the time of printing) will deliver high level discussions and a series of Closed Agency Only Workshops for promoting greater collaboration on the international challenges.

On behalf of the Organizing Committee you are cordially invited to Lisbon, Portugal on 17th-19th May 2022 for World Border Security Congress, the premier gathering of border and migration management professionals.

We look forward to welcoming you.

Event Director
World Border Security Congress

As greater resources are put into stemming the flow of migrants and combatting human trafficking activity in other parts of the Mediterranean, the Portuguese Algarve coastline is increasingly being seen by illegal immigrants, especially those transiting through Morocco, as a gateway to the European continent, and this trend continues to rise.

According to a report in The Portugal News: with its geographical location and historical connections to Latin America, the Director of the National Unit to Combat Drug Trafficking at the Polícia Judiciária warned that Portugal continues to be a gateway to Europe via its maritime and air borders, for the transit of significant quantities of cocaine produced in Latin America.

When the first trans-Atlantic narco semi-submersible carrying approximately three tons of cocaine, was seized off the coast of Spain back in 2019, it became clear that with its 1,794 km of west facing Atlantic coastline, that Portugal as well as Spain are the prime targets for these types of trafficking operations.

In the wider world, climate change will mean that subsistence farming communities and populations depending on grazing animals for their living, in the marginal environments of West Asia and Africa, will find it increasingly difficult simply to survive, and starvation will set large numbers of people on the move, and they will be heading for the prosperous temperate Northern hemisphere.

It is entirely possible that in the coming years we will see people on the move in unprecedented numbers, that could make the 2015 migrant crisis simply seem like a dress rehearsal for what was to come.

Advancements in technology are assisting in the battle to maintain safe and secure international travel. The border security professional still remains the front line against these threats.

We need to continue the discussion, collaboration and intelligence sharing.

The World Border Security Congress is the premier multi-jurisdictional transnational platform where the border protection, management and security industry policy-makers and practitioners convene to discuss the international challenges faced in protecting borders.

Information Sharing and Inter-Agency Collaboration in the new Digital Age

Moderator: Rocco Messina, Programme Management Officer, United Nations Center for Counter Terrorism, Border Security & Management

The importance a sharing information and collaboration across borders in the digital age is lost on no one. But in implementation, it is developing the methodology and culture of cooperation that is key to making sharing information work. And, it is not just about digital information systems, it is about developing professional contacts with counterparts in other agencies both at home and around the world. The advent of remote meeting systems like Zoom and Teams make it entirely practical and financially viable for agency personnel around the world to hold regular meetings with other stakeholders to share practical information about new trends and techniques employed by traffickers, that they are seeing on the ground. This session will focus on practical ways in which digital and operational information sharing can be implemented.

Wednesday 18th May 2022 - 4.15pm - 5.30pm

Biometrics, Travel Document Security & ID fraud

A major event of 2021 was the US and coalition withdrawal from Afghanistan, the world's largest producer of opium, and the Taliban are deeply involved in the trade. Therefore, in the near future, we should anticipate a significant increase in opium-based drugs finding their way onto the international market. As illicit drug use in the US and Europe shows no sign of dropping, the continents will continue to remain the primary markets for organised crime groups involved in drug trafficking and associated trafficking in weapons. Criminal actors continue to be incredibly creative in developing new methodologies, vehicles, and techniques. This session will discuss some of the evolving threats facing the enforcement community.

BREAKOUT WORKSHOP - HEALTH AT OUR BORDERS

The global COVID pandemic remains with us and is likely to remain with us for the foreseeable future. Whilst the World Health Organisation (WHO) takes the lead in developing the new protocols required to contain new COVID variants and other future pandemics, this session will look at the adoption and implementation of new protocols, health certification systems and associated technologies on land, sea and airport borders.

2:00pm - 3:30pm

PLENARY SESSION - COUNTERING TERRORISM & CROSS BORDER CRIME

The Taliban's clear inability to stamp out the terrorist groups within Afghanistan means it is probable that the country will once again become a safe haven for terrorists. The continuing conflicts in the Middle East will also continue to provide a fertile breeding ground for terrorism and cross border crime. Cross border criminal activities also continue unabated worldwide, as organised gangs handsomely profit. The UN mandated adoption of API and PNR, in combination with the more widespread use of watchlists, will be a key factor in countering the movement of FTF's. This session will discuss detecting and countering terrorists and cross border crime through techniques and technologies.

BREAKOUT SESSION - COMBATING CULTURAL HERITAGE & WILDLIFE TRAFFICKING

UNESCO reports that the illicit trade in cultural goods – of which antiquities trafficking is just a part – is worth $10bn a year and, according to UNODC, wildlife crime is worth between $8-10 billion annually, ranking both alongside human trafficking, and arms and drug dealing in terms of profits. But the damage to the world's cultural and environmental heritage is far beyond any financial valuation. This session will discuss what tools and techniques are important in the suppression of this transnational crime and, how awareness and training are key in recognising trafficked goods and spotting the associated fake provenance documents and export certificates. And finally, the importance of sharing information and intelligence across borders about the traffickers and their methods.

PLENARY SESSION - MARITIME CHALLENGES AT THE BORDER AND BEYOND

Coastlines are the most difficult and dangerous borders to police. From waves of migrants in unseaworthy rubber boats to drug traffickers on jet skis, in speedboats, on yachts and even ocean-going semi-submersibles. Managing maritime borders has multiple challenges, from surveilling and securing extended coastlines, to managing busy and bustling ports. Even jurisdiction between agencies including Coastguards, Navies, Customs, Border Police, Port Police, National Police, and Immigration can be problematic. Especially when these agencies have their stand-alone Command and Control systems and operational procedures. This session will discuss the challenges and how stakeholders can work together to achieve the best outcome.

2022 is something of a landmark year for the implementation and adoption of key digital borders, including the UN mandated adoption of Passenger Name Record (PNR) systems and Europe's ETIAS - European Travel Information and Authorisation System. This session will look at the role of border control and the influence of fighting serious crime and terrorism through API/PNR, ETIAS, Europol /Frontex Interoperability and specific case studies for the roll out of these programmes, and how they can be used for both facilitating legitimate travellers or identifying and targeting criminals.

PLENARY SESSION - FUTURE MIGRATION & TRAFFICKING CHALLENGES

As many as 1.75 billion people worldwide (about 38% of the rural population) live on marginal agricultural areas. A U.N. report in August 2021 warned that global warming due to greenhouse gas emissions could breach 1.5C in the next two decades. Agreements made at the COP26 conference failed to make any significant impact on those projections. Major flooding in some parts of the world, and droughts in others, as well as more intense and frequent storms will all make marginal agriculture much more difficult in some areas and untenable in others, which is likely to set millions of people on the move. As global temperatures rise it will directly lead to agricultural and economic crises and mass migration, possibly on a scale that will exceed 2015. This session will discuss how the global border community can be better prepared for mass irregular migration events.

AFRICAN YOUNG PEOPLE SUPPORT CENTRE / AU-ECOSOCC WORKSHOP

EDUCATION; DIALOGUE AND YOUTH INCLUSIVENESS IN GOVERNANCE: AS MULTI-DIMENSIONAL STRATEGY TO CHECKMATE IRREGULAR MIGRATION

TUESDAY 17TH MAY 9.30AM-12.30PM

Young people in governance speaks to the active participation of youth inclusiveness in the activities leading to decision making of their country and by extension contribute to national development as well as address youth and young people related issues through the instrumentality of Education. Functional education can be exploited as a veritable tool in curbing/checkmating irregular migration which occurs especially in the third world countries where statistics has shown that youth are marginalize in the governance process of their countries. The youthful population of Africa present challenges and opportunities for African governments; the engagement of young people in the decision making processes on issues that affect them directly is key to maximizing the opportunities and addressing developmental challenges.

It is increasingly imperative to create the necessary space for young people to participate in national and regional dialogues to bring youth issues and concerns to the front burner; this is critical to ensuring that national and regional development activities are all inclusive and caters for different groups of young people. The need to strengthen good governance practices and promoting social inclusion through affordable and functional education as means to realizing the rights of marginalized youths and young people in general.

A growing number of young people in Africa are taking to irregular migration to Europe and other developed countries as an escape from the marginalization they feel from system of governance in operation across several countries across the World. However, others who are dogged are taking up leadership roles in government as members of the Houses of Representatives both at the States and National level, public service, private sector and civil society organizations. This presents a unique opportunity to strengthen the participation and inclusiveness of young people in governance and using legislative mechanisms to advance youth development as well as curb the irregular migration trends.

WATCHLISTING WORKSHOP

ENHANCING BORDER SECURITY THROUGH THE ESTABLISHMENT OF NATIONAL TERRORIST WATCHLISTS

WORKSHOP JOINTLY FACILITATED BY U.S.
DEPARTMENT OF STATE AND U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, ICITAP

THURSDAY 19TH MAY 9.00AM-10.30AM

Chaired by:

Timothy Tschida, Watchlisting Advisor & Daniel Guerrero, Watchlisting Assistance and Support Program Advisor, ICITAP/US Department of Justice and the Counterterrorism Bureau

Foreign terrorist fighters pose an acute and growing threat to international peace and security. It is often challenging to identify and track terrorists as they travel through and between borders, but when arranging or conducting travel, they supply biographic and biometric information at borders, through airlines, or upon encounter.

If a nation establishes a watchlist of foreign terrorist fighter identities that is accessible by border authorities, this information allows for the ability to confirm an identity against the watchlist, develop additional intelligence, and stop any terrorist activity.

In United Nations Security Council 2396, the development of a comprehensive national counterterrorist watchlist to support screening and investigative activities is one of several security obligations for member states to pursue. Border security is on the front line of this effort and operates most effectively with accurate, complete and accessible data provided in a national terrorist watchlist.

In this Workshop you will:

- Gain an understanding of terrorist watchlisting and how such programs fit within border security.
- Recognize the importance of terrorist watchlisting as well as obligations under UN Security Council Resolution 2396.
- Be introduced to the Global Counterterrorism Forum's Watchlisting Toolkit.
- Learn how Advanced Passenger Information/Passenger Name Record (API/PNR) data and biometrics can be integrated into the watchlisting process.
- Appreciate how an effective watchlisting system can enhance interagency and international cooperation and information sharing.
